

Accessibility Statement

Our dedication is to guarantee that the content displayed on our website is easily accessible and user-friendly for all visitors. Should you face any difficulties while browsing or navigating our website or notice any element that might not be fully accessible to individuals with disabilities, please contact our team at office@metodica-cosmetology.com with "Disabled Access" in the subject line. Kindly provide a detailed description of the specific feature you find inaccessible or suggest potential improvements.

We highly value your feedback and will thoroughly assess it to improve our accessibility standards for all users. While we lack direct influence over third-party vendors, we strongly urge them to prioritize creating accessible and user-friendly digital content.